

Privacy Notice - General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”)

Please read the following information carefully. This privacy notice contains information about the information collected, stored, and otherwise processed about you and the reasons for the processing. It also tells you who I share this information with, the security mechanisms I have put in place to protect your data and how to contact me in the event you need further information.

Who Am I?

Camilla Choudhury - Khawaja collects, uses and is responsible for personal information about you. When I do this, I am the “controller” of this information for the purposes of the GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018. If you need to contact me about your data or the processing carried out, you can use the contact details at the end of this document.

What do I do with your information?

When carrying out the provision of legal services I collect some or all the following personal information that you provide:

- a) personal details
- b) family details
- c) lifestyle and social circumstances
- d) financial details
- e) education, training and employment details
- f) physical or mental health details
- g) other personal data relevant to instructions to provide legal services, including data specific to the instructions in question.

Information collected from other sources

The same categories of information may also be obtained from third parties, such as other legal professionals or experts, members of the public, your family and friends, witnesses, courts and other tribunals, investigators, government departments, regulators, public records and registers.

How I use your personal information:

I may use your personal information for the following purposes:

- i. to provide legal services to my clients, including the provision of legal advice and representation in courts, tribunals, arbitrations, and mediations
- ii. to keep accounting records and carry out office administration
- iii. to take or defend legal or regulatory proceedings or to exercise a lien
- iv. to respond to potential complaints or make complaints
- v. to check for potential conflicts of interest in relation to future potential cases
- vi. to promote and market my services
- vii. to carry out anti-money laundering and terrorist financing checks
- viii. to train other barristers and when providing work-shadowing opportunities
- ix. when procuring goods and services

- x. to publish legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals
- xi. as otherwise required or permitted by law.

Whether information has to be provided by you, and why

If I have been instructed by you or on your behalf on a case to enable me to provide you with advice and to enable me to comply with my professional obligations, and to keep accounting records.

The legal basis for processing your personal information

I rely on the following as the lawful bases on which I collect and use your personal information:

- If you have consented to the processing of your personal information, then I may process your information for the Purposes set out above to the extent to which you have consented to me doing so.
- If you are a client, processing is necessary for the performance of a contract for legal services or in order to take steps at your request prior to entering into a contract.
- In relation to information which is not in the categories above, I rely on my legitimate interest and/or the legitimate interests of a third party in carrying out the processing for the Purposes set out above.
- In certain circumstances processing may be necessary in order that I can comply with a legal obligation to which I am subject (including carrying out anti-money laundering or terrorist financing checks).
- The processing is necessary to publish judgments or other decisions of courts or tribunals.

Who will I share your personal information with?

If you are a client, some of the information you provide will be protected by legal professional privilege unless and until the information becomes public in the course of any proceedings or otherwise. As a barrister I have an obligation to keep your information confidential, except where it otherwise becomes public or is disclosed as part of the case or proceedings.

It may be necessary to share your information with the following:

- Information and data processors, such as my staff, email and website providers, information or data storage providers, IT service and software providers and anti-money laundering verification providers
- other legal professionals
- experts and other witnesses
- courts and tribunals
- the staff in my place of work
- trainee barristers
- lay clients
- family and associates of the person whose personal information I am processing
- in the event of complaints: the Bar Standards Board and the Legal Ombudsman
- other regulatory authorities
- business associates, professional advisers and trade bodies, e.g. the Bar Council

- the general public in relation to the publication of legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals.

I may be required to provide your information to regulators, such as the Bar Standards Board, the Financial Conduct Authority or the Information Commissioner's Office. In the case of the Information Commissioner's Office, there is a risk that your information may lawfully be disclosed by them for the purpose of any other civil or criminal proceedings, without my consent or yours, which includes privileged information. I may also be required to disclose your information to the police or intelligence services, where required or permitted by law.

Sources of information

- The personal information I obtain may include information which has been obtained from:
- other legal professionals
- experts and other witnesses
- courts and tribunals
- trainee barristers
- lay clients
- family and associates of the person whose personal information I am processing
- in the event of complaints, the Bar Standards Board, and the Legal Ombudsman
- other regulatory authorities
- business associates, professional advisers and trade bodies, e.g. the Bar Council
- the general public in relation to the publication of legal judgments and decisions of courts and tribunals
- information and data processors, such as my staff, email and website providers, information or data storage providers, IT service and software providers and anti-money laundering verification providers
- public sources, such as the press, public registers and law reports

Transfer of your information outside the European Economic Area (EEA)

This privacy notice is of general application and as such it is not possible to state whether it will be necessary to transfer your information out of the EEA in any particular case or for a reference. However, if you reside outside the EEA or your case or the role for which you require a reference involves persons or organisations or courts and tribunals outside the EEA then it may be necessary to transfer some of your data to that country outside of the EEA for that purpose. If you are in a country outside the EEA or if the instructions you provide come from outside the EEA then it is inevitable that information will be transferred to those countries. If this applies to you and you wish additional precautions to be taken in respect of your information, please indicate this when providing initial instructions. Some countries and organisations outside the EEA have been assessed by the European Commission and their data protection laws and procedures found to show adequate protection. The list can be found here. Most do not. If your information has to be transferred outside the EEA, then it may not have the same protections and you may not have the same rights as you would within the EEA. I may transfer your personal information to the following which are located outside the European Economic Area (EEA):

- cloud data storage services based in the USA who have agreed to comply with the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when they need to. The USA does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection. To obtain further details of that protection see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/eu-us-privacy-shield_en.

- cloud data storage services based in Switzerland, in order to enable me to store your data and/or backup copies of your data so that I may access your data when I need to. Switzerland does not have the same data protection laws as the EU but has been recognised by the European Commission as providing adequate protection; see https://ec.europa.eu/info/law/law-topic/data-protection/data-transfers-outside-eu/adequacy-protection-personal-data-non-eu-countries_en.

If I decide to publish a judgment or other decision of a Court or Tribunal containing your information, then this will be published to the world. I will not, otherwise, transfer personal information outside the EEA (except as necessary for providing legal services or for any legal proceedings. If you would like any further information, please use the contact details at the end of this document.

How long will I store your personal data?

I will normally store all your information until at least 1 year after the expiry of any relevant limitation period (which will usually be 7 years, but may be 12 years, or longer where the case includes information relating to a minor), from the date of the last item of work carried out, the date of the last payment received or the date on which all outstanding payments are written off, whichever is the latest. This is because it may be needed for potential legal proceedings/regulatory matters or active complaints. At this point any further retention will be reviewed and the data will be marked for deletion or marked for retention for a further period. The latter retention period is likely to occur only where the information is needed for legal proceedings, regulatory matters or active complaints. Deletion will be carried out (without further notice to you) as soon as reasonably practicable after the data is marked for deletion.

The following areas have more specific requirements:

- Solicitor client instructions – I will retain case papers and e-mails for solicitor client instructions for 6 months from the finalisation of the case instructions.
- Direct Access instructions – I will retain full case papers and files will be maintained for 7 years unless there are reasons to retain the papers for longer e.g. the case involved a minor in which case papers must be retained for 6 years after the 18th birthday of that minor.
- I will store some of your information which I need to carry out conflict checks for the rest of my career. However, this is likely to be limited to your name and contact details/ the name of the case/anything else. This will not include any information within categories above.
- I will store Information related to anti-money laundering checks for Direct Public Access Clients for five years after the completion of the transaction or the end of the business relationship, whichever is the later;
- I will hold and store the names and contact details held for marketing purposes indefinitely or until I, or my staff, become aware or we are informed that the individual has ceased to be a potential client.

Consent

As explained above, I am relying on your explicit consent to process your information in categories above. You provided this consent when you agreed that I would provide legal services. You have the right to withdraw this consent at any time, but this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing activity I have carried out prior to you withdrawing your consent. However, where I also rely on other bases for processing your information, you may not be able to prevent processing of your data. For example, if you have asked me to work for you and I have spent time on your case, you may owe me money which I will be entitled to claim. If there is an issue with the processing of your information, please contact my clerks using the contact details below.

Your Rights

Under the GDPR, you have a number of rights that you can exercise in certain circumstances. These are free of charge. In summary, you may have the right to:

- Ask for access to your personal information and other supplementary information;
- Ask for correction of mistakes in your data or to complete missing information I hold on you;
- Ask for your personal information to be erased, in certain circumstances;
- Receive a copy of the personal information you have provided to me or have this information sent to a third party. This will be provided to you or the third party in a structured, commonly used and machine readable format, e.g. a Word file;
- Object at any time to processing of your personal information for direct marketing;
- Object in certain other situations to the continued processing of your personal information;
- Restrict my processing of your personal information in certain circumstances;
- If you want more information about your rights under the GDPR please see the Guidance from the Information Commissioners Office on Individual's rights under the GDPR.
- If you want to exercise any of these rights, please:
- Use the contact details at the end of this document;
- I may need to ask you to provide other information so that you can be identified;
- Please provide a contact address so that you can be contacted to request further information to verify your identity;
- Provide proof of your identity and address;
- State the right or rights that you wish to exercise.

I will respond to you within one month from when I receive your request.

How to make a complaint?

The GDPR also gives you the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioners' Office if you are in the UK, or with the supervisory authority of the Member State where you work, normally live or where the alleged infringement of data protection laws occurred. The Information Commissioner's Office can be contacted at <http://ico.org.uk/concerns/>. You have the right to object to the use of your personal information for automated decision-making, please see 'your rights'.

Future Processing

I do not intend to process your personal information except for the reasons stated within this privacy notice. If this changes for any reason, this privacy notice will be amended and placed on the website.

Changes to this privacy notice

This privacy notice was published on 26th September 2019 and last updated on the same date. I continually review my privacy practices and may change this policy from time to time. When I do it will be placed on the website.

Contact Details

If you have any questions about this privacy notice or the information I hold about you, please contact me. The best way to contact me is to e-mail me at my email address: camilla@thewomenslawyer.co.uk
